

Share more
by Mike Hogan

1. Share in writing

You want to share your knowledge about something you have recently learned, either from what you have seen or read. Remember to include important background information. Be prepared to discuss the knowledge you have shared with your partner or the class.

MAKE IT REAL! MAKE IT RELEVANT!

Your message:

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

2. Share by presenting

Pick a topic that you know something about and prepare a short presentation on it. After giving your presentation, check how well you have shared your knowledge by asking your partner to explain it to you.

START WITH A SUMMARY, END WITH THE NEXT STEPS!

Make notes for your presentation:

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....